

METHODS AND SYSTEMS FOR GENERATING DOCUMENTS

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[00105] A document assembly production system including a server and at least one remote computer is provided. The server has a plurality of templates and other document assembly assets stored therein. The remote computer is configured to communicate with the server to access the plurality of templates and the other assembly assets to assemble fully formatted documents without using any document-assembly software and word processing software stored on the remote computer.